

Grand Jury to Hear Hall Murder Mystery Evidence Tomorrow

The first definite step in the endeavor of New Jersey officials to penetrate the mystery surrounding the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills will be taken tomorrow with the drawing of a grand jury to hear the mass of evidence collected by Special Prosecutor Simpson and his assistants.

Out of a panel of thirty-six names, twenty-three are to be chosen to review the case and attempt to patch together the various loose ends uncovered through examination of a score or more of witnesses during the past few weeks.

The evidence to be presented will, officials declare, directly concern Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the rector; her brother, Willie, and their cousin, Henry Carpenter, all under arrest.

Ralph W. Gorsline, a vestryman in the New Brunswick church of which Dr. Hall was pastor, appeared at police headquarters in Somerville this afternoon, accompanied by Detective Sergeant Richard Burke, and was at once escorted to the room where other witnesses have been interrogated.

Earlier in the day Gorsline had declared that on the night of the murders he had escorted Miss Catherine Rastall, choir singer, to her home and then returned to his own residence.

An important development in the case is expected tomorrow when a Brooklyn man, whose identity is being kept a secret, is to be examined by Prosecutor Simpson. This individual, it is understood, will be asked concerning his assertion that he was in De Russey's lane at the time of the double killing.

At his office in Jersey City today Senator Simpson declared that no additional light had been thrown on the mystery.

Knifed Men, Dying, Tell of Stabbing In Row Over Girl

Two men, dying in Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn, today admitted that knife wounds they received in a street fight in that borough had been given them by two other men, who resented insults to a girl they were escorting.

The dying men are Roy Ryan, 23, of 564 Columbia St., Brooklyn, and Oscar Zelmon, 23, of 2274 Basford St., The Bronx. One has seven wounds in the abdomen—the other four.

According to their stories, they were in Clinton Street, between Union and Sackett Streets, when two men, whose names they did not know, passed in company with a young woman. Ryan and Zelmon acted rudely.

The escorts told them to move along, and the fight started. Two unidentified automobiles had brought the injured men to the hospital.

Labor Draft in War Urged by General

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 9 (By U. P.).—Labor, industry and national resources should be drafted in the next war, delegates to the three-day state convention of the American Legion were told here today.

Major Gen. Clarence R. Edwards said the outstanding lesson of the World War has not yet been learned. He referred, he says, to "our great error when we drafted men's lives and did not draft labor and industry."
